The World's Great Mothers—Always in the Shadow

The Monument, the Music, the Glory in Life, and Palms After Death. Are All for the SON. No One Knows About the Mother, or Cares About Her!

A monument is to be dedicated "to a great man."

The great MAN sits in bronze on horseback—set up where the world may look at him, the sparrows and the small boys wonder at him, during that little period of time which we are accustomed to call "forever."

The MAN in bronze sits stiff upon his horse, while his body crumbles in some graveyard.

THE MAN who made the statue bows and smiles, AND HE FEELS PROUD.

The MAN born to talk well makes a fine speech of praise. Some other MAN, Governor or Mayor, beams officially.

But who is the small, old, thin, unimportant-looking little WOMAN, almost out of sight, quite hidden in the shadow of the statue?

That is the MOTHER of the man in bronze. She is the woman who held that bronze here in her arms when he was nothing but a little eight or nine pound lump of helpless flesh and blood.

She is the woman who gave the hero his life, his character, his brain, his training, AND HIS IDEALS.

That woman, the mother, made the man's brain first and shaped it afterward. Her caresses, her kindness, her example and her words reached that childish mind during the early years from the hour of birth until the end of boyhood, YEARS DURING WHICH THE MAN IS MARRED OR MADE IRREVOCABLY.

And what does the crowd know of the woman, the mother, THE REAL CREATOR, as it looks upon the monument that dominates the city's busy life?

No one knows where she came from, what her own name was; IT IS SUNK, OBLITERATED IN THE NAME OF HER HUSBAND AND SON.

No one asks how she bore the battle of life that she might give a great man to humanity.

The child in school is taught to venerate the hero for his courage in a battle where he was watched, where he was applauded, where he knew that reward was great and sure.

But who knows or cares anything about the courage of the mother in HER BATTLE? Who realizes the pain she suffered when she gave that child to the world, in the darkened room, with no reward save the glory of doing her duty unobserved, as millions of women do their duty every year?

Who knows or cares about any of the world's great mothers? Human ingenuity exhausts itself in suggesting new rewards and honors FOR THE MAN OF ACHIEVEMENT.

Where are the monuments, where are the rewards for the mothers that give us the men?

You see here the name of Lincoln. A thousand pictures come into your mind. You see the boy studying by the light of the wood fire. You see the worn, earnest face of the grown man. You see the courage, the patience and the martyr's death. That homely, grave, beautiful face is as clear in your mind as though the great and simple man sat before you. But do you know anything about his mother? Has the world thought anything about her?

Mention the name of NANCY HANKS to a hundred men at random. Twenty-five of them won't know of whom you are talking. Fifty will think you are referring to a famous racehorse, and will tell you the trotting mare's record. The others, perhaps, will know that you are mentioning the name of the great woman who gave ABRAHAM LINCOLN to the United States.

That WOMAN saved this country, just as surely as Michael Angelo built St. Peter's at Rome.

We should be ashamed to look at the great cathedral or picture without knowing or caring anything about the architect or the painter.

How can we be so indifferent to the great mothers, the architects of the world's progress, the REAL creators, the REAL geniuses, the REAL benefactors of the human race?

How long will the world continue this injustice? How long will the mother stand unseen in the shadow of her great son's monument?

How long shall we talk of William the Conqueror, and know nothing of the tanner's daughter who bore him?

How long shall we give our children every detail in the life and even in the dissipation of Leonardo da Vinci, and have not a word to say about the simple peasant woman whose strong brain gave him his genius, whose strong body gave him his huge frame and wonderful power?

What was the daring character of the woman who bore Christopher Columbus? It was HER blood that she put into his body that sent him across the ocean. What do we know about her? WHAT QUESTIONS DO WE EVER ASK ABOUT HER?

To the immortal glory of the Catholic Church it must be said that that ancient religion has splendidly championed the glory and the sacredness of motherhood. Under the direction of that faith millions of mothers have been taught to look up to the mother who gave a Saviour to this world.

There is an example for all men, for all religions and for all teachings.

What is the most splendid force conceivable? IS IT NOT THE POWER OF CREATION?

Think of the man who, in your estimation, is the greatest that ever lived and worked upon the earth. And then think of him at his birth, helpless in the arms of his mother. As you see him lying there you know how absolutely he depends on that mother. AND YET ABSOLUTELY THE WORLD DEPENDS UPON HER FOR THE WORK THAT HE IS TO DO.

Does it seem possible that he should grow, become strong, and that the world should turn away from the woman that created him, forget her, put her aside?

Recognition of the dignity of motherhood, of the fact that THE SON'S WORK IS THE MOTHER'S WORK PRIMARILY should not longer be delayed.

For every monument to a great man there should be a monument to his mother, AND THE MOTHER'S MONUMENT SHOULD BE THE FIRST. We do not honor the mother above the father that pointed it out, or the law above the legislator who gave us the law. Why do we honor a child above the mother?

As long as life shall last here and as long as humanity shall struggle with the problems of life, let us remember that MOTHERS WILL BE THE WORLD'S GREATEST REDEEMERS.

It is true that the mother, in reward for her child's success, THE HONOR HIM ALL THE MORE. BUT THAT REASON, FOR EVERY REASON EXCEPT THE PROPOSITION OF MOTHERHOOD this nation offers rewards.

The professional teacher, with the soldier's sword, or with his naked fists, is honored.

The professional lawyer, politician, clergyman, money-maker—ALL are glorified at the hands of their fellow-men.

Isn't it time to recognize, to tolerate publicly, the greatest of all professions, that of motherhood?

Shouldn't it be our country's first to reward the women who have made it? Shouldn't it be at least NOW given to the mothers of the country a share in their government, the right to vote, that is given to the violent man? Or are men in America, as elsewhere, forever to play the part of egotistical ingrates, forgetting or ignoring the power and love that gave them life?
